Headline:

Severe gales gradually easing, but feeling very cold today.

Today:

A very windy start, with severe gales, especially in coastal areas. Remaining windy into the afternoon, but the strongest gusts abating somewhat. Plenty of showers initially, wintry at times, these becoming more confined to coastal areas later. Feeling very cold. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:

Some coastal showers persisting across west Wales, otherwise a lot of dry, clear weather to be had. Winds will continue to ease, with a widespread frost developing inland. Minimum temperature -5 deg C (23 deg F).

Sunday:

Still some showers running into western coastal areas and perhaps a few later in the north, otherwise after a frosty start, a dry day with lots of sunshine. Lighter winds. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:

Cloudy but mostly dry on Monday. Windier again by Tuesday with outbreaks of rain, but also feeling a bit milder. Blustery and showery on Wednesday.
